

ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT

Running Canterbury School's Model UN Program as the Secretary-General, working on her Girl Scout Gold Award and maintaining no less than a 97 average in every class, are a testament to the strong character of Sabrina Capodicci, St. Rose School Class of 2016 alumna. Sabrina also enjoys acting – she was recently the lead in a summer Shakespeare program -- and is part of a peer-led creative writing group that has been featured in The Newtown Bee. “As I’m sure many of my friends would agree, Mrs. Doane’s ELA class was largely influential both in general and in fostering a life long love of English. In First grade, Mrs. B laid an excellent foundation and prepared us all academically as well as taught us the value of a work ethic and discipline. In Algebra II we are still learning things that I already know from St. Rose and my English teacher was shocked that I was familiar with archetypes,” said Sabrina. Her favorite memories of her alma mater are the Washington D.C. trip, the Model U.N. competition in NYC, Mock Trial, times with her friends and going for ice cream with Father Bob. “Our class truly felt like a community,” Sabrina reminisced. Currently busy with a full schedule of Honors and AP classes, this motivated high school sophomore is also involved with Woman of Canterbury, a community service and empowerment program. God bless Sabrina, you are a testimony to St. Rose of Lima School – a young woman who is rooted in faith and thriving in academics. You always have a place in our family.
